

CASE STUDY

Pertemps were one of Jaama's first customers following the 2004 launch of Key2.

Key2 is used to manage the company's 650-strong company car and van fleet and more than 300 grey fleet vehicles – across more than 600 different cost centres, some perhaps with only a couple of vehicles.

- Fleet size: 650 company car and vans, more than 300 grey fleet vehicles
- Customer Since: 2004
- Key Personnel: Adrian Harris (Group Fleet Manager)

Pertemps fleet is complicated. There are 112 branches and specialist agencies each with access to Key2 and integrated licence checking verifying the licences of thousands of employees and agency drivers.

Adrian Harris, Group Fleet Manager said: "

The system is very robust and efficient and provides Pertemps with a clear audit trail which flags up any issues that need to be tackled. Every branch in the UK has access to Key2. We assessed other driver licence checking systems, but Licence2Check came out massively on top.

Over the years Pertemps has expanded its own pool of agency drivers with those looking for work having DVLA validation checks undertaken at branch level. It means that having undertaken our own checks on each driver that we are confident in the validity of their driving licence."

“

Adrian Harris, Group Fleet Manager said "The initial investment in Key2 was worth it because we are so integrated within the system now. Without the partnership with Jaama it would be very challenging to be able to fulfil all of our legal requirements and that is something no business can close their eyes to.

We could not comply with all the legislative requirements without Key2 and the system probably does the job of five or six people. It provides Pertemps with the tools to do the job required.

I think that the breadth of knowledge that the Jaama team has is immense and never fails to astound me."
